Dear Astronomers,

My name is Craig L. Anderson, and I am a professor at HEC Paris that is interested in studying the emotion of awe. I've previously studied awe in the context of nature experiences like white-water river rafting and an expedition to the Arctic (see my website for more details).

I am writing you today to invite you to participate in a new scientific survey that examines how awe relates to astronomy and stargazing, a source of great awe for me in my own life.

The study takes about 10 minutes to complete, people who complete it will be entered in a drawing for a $35 gift card to thespacestore.com.

To participate in the study, simply click on this link to begin the survey:

This study is strictly for academic purposes for publication in a scientific journal only. Me and my coauthors have no financial stake in this research, and we are not working with any commercial entities. If you have any questions about the study, please do not hesitate to reach out to me at anderson@hec.fr.

I really appreciate your time and consideration!

Warm regards,

Craig
